CAMORRA CASE DAUGHERTY FOR IN JURY'S HANDS G. O. P. CHAIRMAN

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Browned and refreshed by his four days on the golf links at Beverly, President Taft returned to the White House today and at once entered on the first real day of his campaign for re-election when he met the members of the sub-committee of the Republican National Committee to choose a chairman and map out plans for the campaign.

The President's train was late, and it did not reach Washington until after 6 o'clock. According to his present plans, the chief executive will not go to Beverly to stay until after Congress adjourns. He will make "week end" trips to the Summer capital, especially if Congress decides to sit all Summer.

With the majority of the members in favor of Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio for chairman of the national committee, the subcommittee of the national committee adjourned their preliminary session shortly before noon today to attend luncheon at the White House and confer with the President.

Aside from discussing the possible chairman, the sub-committee today served notice on Judge Priestly, a Roosevelt supporter from Oklahoma and erstwhile member of the national committee, that if he

Would Rather Pose for Women Artists

Romances of Boston Studios No. 4

Mrs. S. G. Bixby a Much-Sought Model

Her Photograph in Show Window First Led to Her Engaging in the Profession.

Investigation into the romantic side of Boston art studios discloses a pretty little story about a young maiden whom many painters found herself a much-sought model.

The young maiden in this case is Mrs. S. G. Bixby, wife of William S. Bixby, the horticulturist. The Bixbys live at 112 Parker street, Malden, and are highly popular with the younger artists of their city.

Mrs. Bixby has been married six years. Mrs. Bixby is not only beautiful, but has that beauty which appeals to artists and which lends itself to the requirements of posing.

Her features are regular. Her eyes are dark, brown, large and expressive. Her hair is abundant and she "can do anything with it," as her women friends say. Her skin is fair, but with just enough color in her cheeks to give her a healthy appearance.

Naturally Mrs. Bixby takes an excellent photograph. Photographers who have made her pictures have put them in their show windows for the public to see. And this led eventually to the unexpected side of art, the model for the painter.

Two artists visiting a Tremont street studio saw a photograph of Mrs. Bixby. They noted the beauty of her face, the straight line of the mouth and the finely formed features. They secured her name and address from the photographer. A few days later Mrs. Bixby was surprised to receive a letter from the artist, relating the fact of seeing her photograph and asking if she would consent to posing for paintings.

Mrs. Bixby was naturally pleased at the compliment to her beauty, and she would be, after thinking it over she decided to make an appointment with the artist.

MRS. STEEDMAN G. BIXBY, OF MALDEN.

and posed. This led to additional engagements, for other artists heard of her. Some who were in such demand that she had to cancel many social engagements. She has posed for a dozen artists. Mrs. Bixby was not at all surprised when she was asked to pose for a portrait. She has seen at least four pictures of herself in various poses. Some of these paintings have been for "commercial work," as artists call it, the magazine, calendar, stationery items and so on.

Thus the life of Mrs. Bixby gained an entirely unexpected development. She is not only a model, but she is also an artist. Mrs. Bixby likes it immensely, especially as she does not have to be depicted in any of the usual poses of the model. She is not at all surprised when she is asked to pose for a portrait. She has seen at least four pictures of herself in various poses. Some of these paintings have been for "commercial work," as artists call it, the magazine, calendar, stationery items and so on.

There are times when posing becomes very tiresome, and that is when you find that the painter for which you are sitting is not going to suit you. You get tired quickly and must then turn to the next artist. Other times I become so interested that I can afford the artist's time as my model. I shall have no posing job as long as I can. I am now sitting for a two-sitting pose, which will take several weeks. I will remain until the winter.
